

To Whom it May Concern:

If you are considering Ryan Wilson as a candidate for a teaching position at your school, I highly recommend that you hire this passionate, creative, and experienced individual.

I worked with Ryan in my position as Program Coordinator for the Dental Hygiene Completion Program at Northern Arizona University for four years. During that time, he exceeded all of my expectations and continually welcomed additional responsibility throughout the Dental Hygiene department. In his position as an Academic Advisor for our program, he developed a wonderful and caring rapport with all of our students as they completed their degree through an online environment. While his computer expertise, alone, would be an asset to any future employer, he complements this knowledge with excellent verbal and written skill, organizational skills, and an ability to take initiative and work independently to get a job done.

While working with me, Ryan also completed two Master Degrees, one in Education and the other in History. These work-intensive degrees proved that he possesses a passion for teaching, and that he is very effective at multi-tasking. While his experience at both the high school and undergraduate level will be an asset to your program, it is his altruistic spirit that makes him a teacher that can reach students and encourage their intellectual development.

I personally recommend Ryan to you without reservation. I understand that he is looking for employment as a teacher in Latin America, and I know of no one better suited for such a position simply because of his passion to work in the region. I sincerely attest to Ryan's ability to overcome any obstacle and further the reputation of your program. If you have any further questions with regard to his background or qualifications, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Reveal, MBA, RDH.
